Re: Offer to Purchase Shares in [name of Corporation] in accordance with Assignable Option, issued on [date of issue]

Dear Sirs,

We hereby instruct you to facilitate the sale of the [number] shares we own in the Company, in accordance with the above mentioned Assignable Option.

The offer is protected by the following code:

Provided this code is correct and in accordance with your files, the sale of these shares is to be made to the legal entity or organization below:

Legal name of The Entity acquiring the ownership of The Investment:

The Entity's official address:

Novasol Judicare Inc.

This authorization to accept the Assignable Option to be exercised is null and void if the protection code for the Investment is incorrect, or the date of your receiving this letter is past the expiry date of the Assignable Option.

This authorization is also to be considered invalid in case the legal entity or organization exercising this Assignable Option is identical to, legally related to, or in any way affiliated with or owned by the client of yours, from whom we originally purchased these shares.

This authorization is also invalid if the Entity is domiciled in the USA or in any other country that does not respect people's rights to privacy in communication.

Subject to the above, the sale is considered final when we receive:

1. Your acknowledgement of having received this letter and confirmed that all the above conditions are satisfied;
2. We have received The Option Exercise Price from the buyer to our bank account.

Please check with us prior to payment, so we can furnish to you our updated banking information.

Sincerely,

Mogens Eliassen
President of Novasol Judicare Inc.
